

Dandelion KITCHEN

Be brief and have fun answering the following questions. Please return this page along with your résumé and cover letter. Thank you!

1. This job requires you to be a representative of Dandelion Kitchen in the community—with farms, grocery partners, distribution sites, and beyond. How do you build trust with new partners and keep existing relationships strong?
2. We're a small, mission-driven operation, which means everyone pitches in and job descriptions are more of a starting point than a finish line. Tell us about a time you took on something outside your official role because it just needed to get done.
3. If you had to describe your communication style in three words, what would they be—and would your last team agree?
4. What does "food justice" mean to you, and how has it shown up in your life or work?
5. If your refrigerator at home could tell us one thing about you, what would it say?
6. You've just received an unexpected donation of 100 lbs of slightly-past-peak zucchini. What's your move?
7. What do you geek out about when it comes to food? (Sourdough starters, street food, and strong opinions about stock etc. are all welcome!)
8. What's a community organization, farm, or food-related business in our area that you think Dandelion Kitchen should be partnering with, and why?
